DARING HOLDUP AT GARTLY

A lone bandit held up the grain buyer, A. Whitaker, of the Home Grain Company at Gartly, 6 miles east of Munson, about 10:30 last night at the point of a revolver relieved him of $900 cash which he had on hand for buying grain. The Superintendent of the Company was here in the office at the time and the two men had retired for the night when they heard a knock at the door. Mr. Whitaker got up and opened the door and the stranger inquired the way to Delta. After getting this information he asked if he could come in and get warm.
Whitaker told him there was no fire inside and started to shut the door which was forced back by the bandit who pointed a gun in his face. After taking the $900 he locked the door and went outside and disappeared.

Aside from the substantial prizes which are offered for the local fair the opportunity which will be afforded for the exchange and sale of seed grain, is worthy of consideration.

Any further information may be had at the Secretary's Office, L. C.
Jackson, Munson. Entry forms will be available shortly and can be had either by calling or writing.

GOOD AS THE WHEAT

"Good as the wheat" is an old motto, about as the last word in meaning as "Safe as the Bank of England."

A bag of No. 1 Northern, clean as a whistle of cockle and fox tail, was a symbol of sure value long before gold was known in the world. Wheat has been found in the Pyramids.
The Egyptians just about worshipped wheat. The Bible calls it corn, so do the English. But when we say "good as the wheat" we refer to a bushel of brown, hard kernels worth by Government fixture this year, 2.20. In memory of living man when did "good as the wheat" mean more than it does now? Never. A bag of what weighing two bushels and a peck tots up in 1917 to about the value of a five-dollar gold piece. But of course no man wants gold for his wheat. All he gets is a check made out to his favor on some bank and signed by the manager of some elevator or mining concern. The check is converted into bills or paper deposits. Good wheat; good paper; no body asks any questions. Because the componant is O. K. and the bank is sound. If any wheatseller had any doubt of either he would at once demand something else.

"I sold good wheat," he would say. "I want something as good in exchange."

What made the wheat good? The good farmer behind it. A poor farmer can make good seed into poor wheat.

What makes the paper money good? The security of the corporation whose name it bears. The sounder the corporation, the nearer the paper comes to being as good as the wheat. But even a big company may go "broke." Back of the corporation is a concern whose guarantee on a piece of paper is better than either. The pledge of the Dominion of Canada to pay any man money for value received is as good as the wheat and as safe as the Bank of England.

The best pledge of the Dominion of Canada to pay is a Canadian Victory Bond; better than checks or bills—AS GOOD AS WHEAT!

Suppose you change that twenty bags of wheat on your wagon, not into checks or notes or even gold; but into Canadian Victory Bonds of $50 each, bearing interest at five and one-half per cent. per annum and as negotiable on the market as the best check or the best load of wheat you ever saw. It's worth considering.

Distribution of Cereals

How the French Government Handles the Grain, Milling and Baking Situation

Details of the decree issued by the French government which places the production and distribution of cereals under control of the state have been received from the food administration.

The decree became effective September 1. A central office, consisting of a chief officer, a controller and of the grain merchants, has been created. There is also to be a committee of experts to advise the chief officer. Cereals may be purchased only by French millers and grain merchants, who will be required to give notice of their buying to the State and must in no case pay prices in excess of those fixed by the decree of July 16.

Millers and grain merchants may buy local cereals at the same price that they will not require transportation by railroads, waterways, or motor roads. Cereals will be graded, grain distributed, and at all times be subject to inspection by the chief officer to keep prompt and uniform quantities received, quantities in transit, and quantities delivered.

At first glance at the following figures will show what Canada has already done in the United Kingdom, France and Italy in pounds.

FALL FOOTWEAR TAKES a SENSIBLE TURN

Two-Toned Walking Boots

Comfort and Beauty Expressed in Black and White

A Gemidress Boot With Suede Tops.

Ornamental Pearl Buttons are a Feature

FOOTWEAR has come to be more than a necessary accessory of women's wearing apparel. It is now of as much importance as her hat, her blouse or her frock. When footwear first became of great consequence, women went mad over the idea and were willing to wear any kind of boot that boasted of delicate colors and impractical makeup. What cared they whether the boots worn with trim tailored suits and hats were of colors or texture suitable for dressy costumes? But the storm has subsided and women's taste have been tempered; consequently, footwear has taken sensible turns. True, there will still be delicately colored boots and boots that go to the limit in height as concerned, but they will be reserved for the proper occasion. For practical wear, the boots worn this season by women of refinement will not be more than eight or nine inches high. And as for the fastenings of them, buttons are considered newer, but many women will remain loyal to the laces, realizing that with their aid better-fitting boots will result.

The military heel, which is depicted in the black-and-white models and in the brown and champagne boots, is in the lead. Of course, the modified French heel will also be favored.

It is quite noticeable that the long vamp is the popular one this season. Equally as prominent is the use of perforations for the purpose of ornamenting the leather portions of the boots. And the brown walking boot is a very good example of the vamped toe, which proves to be a minor in evidence.

It will be welcome news to many that spats have lost none of their value from a fashionable viewpoint. With tailored costumes, the tan pump or oxford, with spat to match, or in lighter shade, is in good taste. For wear with dressy afternoon costumes, the patent leather or soft kid pump, with a spat of gray or fawn color, is in order.

Needless to say that the fabric top is the one of the moment. There will be many whole-leather boots, but those of the former class will be in the majority.

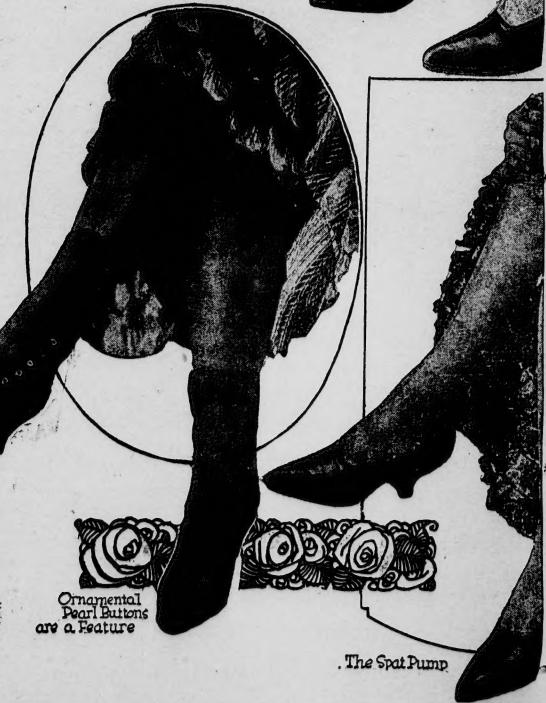

Just a word about evening footwear. Gold and silver slippers continue to be in the lead, while white, pink, black and blue satin models will be used to carry out the matching idea.

Why Canada Needs More Money

UP to date the war has cost Canada about $700,000,000. Canada has spent in Canada over $400,000,000 on her own account. Canada has spent in Canada on behalf of Great Britain over $300,000,000. What Canada spends for Great Britain is really loaned to Great Britain and will be repaid or credited to Canada later on.

Great Britain needs so much ready cash to finance her own expenditures at home for herself and for our Allies that she must buy on credit from Canada, and from every other country where she can get credit.

Of course Great Britain's credit is so good that other countries, in order to get her trade, are quite as willing to give her credit as we are in Canada.

Canada wants to help Great Britain not only because Canada wants Britain's trade but because we are Canada and she is Great Britain—both members of the same great Empire, kin of our kin, our motherland.

For Canada it is both a filial and patriotic duty to supply Great Britain's war needs and remember, her needs are our needs. Also it is in Canada's self-interest to supply those needs and thus keep open a market for our products.

Now, Britain needs our wheat, our cheese, cattle, hogs, and many manufactured articles.

Canada also needs many of these things—between the two it amounts to more than a million dollars a day in cash.

And the producers must be paid in cash.

Neither Canada nor Great Britain could go to a Canadian farmer and buy his wheat or his cattle on credit.

The farmer and all other producers might be ever so willing to give their country credit but they could not do it because they have to pay cash for wages, for rent, materials, etc. They must be paid in cash, or its equivalent.

So Canada says to Great Britain:—"I will lend you the money so that you can pay cash to Canada's producers for what you want.

"I will borrow this money from our own people just as you borrow money from your people.

"I will also borrow from the people of Canada money to pay cash for all the products that Canada, as well as Great Britain, needs in Canada."

That is Canada's practical, patriotic part in helping to win the war.

Without this credit the Canadian producer could not sell to Great Britain, and without these Canadian products the war would be prolonged.

So it is necessary for Canada to give to Great Britain the credit in order that Canada's own producers, who need a market, will have one; and in order that Great Britain which needs the products to win the war, will get them.

Now how does Canada get the money, by which both Canada and Britain can pay cash for Canada's products?

By borrowing it from the people of Canada through the sale of Canada's Victory Bonds to be offered in November.

That is why Canada's Victory Bonds are offered to the people—to raise money to help to finish the war.

"Canada must keep her shoulder to the wheel even though it be a chariot of fire," and the way for Canada to keep her shoulder to the wheel is by buying

Canada's Victory Bonds

Next week this space will tell why Canada raises money by selling Canada's Victory Bonds Issued by Canada's Victory Loan Committee in co-operation with the Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada.

HUN FOLLOWS EVENTS HERE

Discovery at the Front in France proves close German watch on Canada

Ottawa, Nov. 1.—A newspaper found on a German prisoner who was captured by the Canadians on the Western front recently shows how close a watch the Hun keeps on Canadian affairs. The paper contained a news despatch, purporting to come from Ottawa, which told of the passing of the Military Service Act just two days after the Act was passed by Parliament here.

This little discovery is regarded here as a proof of the importance Germany places upon the military benefit to the allies which will flow from the adoption by Canada of the Military Service Act. Experience has proved that Germany is a close observer of enemy countries and that every sign of strengthening or weakening is noted with the keenest interest by the Huns. A-18

Grain and Gunpowder

Nemesis Is Today Dogging the Heels of the Bloodied Hohenzollerns

Newspapers tell of the heroic efforts made by the people and government of Great Britain to defend their country from the effects that may result from a prolongation of the war and increased difficulties in getting supplies. With characteristic energy Lloyd George's government is doing things. In a speech he said: "The land and preparations are about completed which will result in every acre of grain yield more than the little island bearing a crop of some kind to help eat out food resources."

The Central Empires will continue the war and for some years will live off the war and for some years will import of foodstuffs without increase.

In France there is little waste land left, the country is now a wasteland, which again needs land to rebuild and reorganize. Thousands of acres formerly productive, due to the war, will require intensive labor, in filling crater, etc., before the land can be used again.

There have been great gains of wheat or garniture of wheat. France, in its present state of imports, breadstuffs, is likely after the war to come personally on the market for even all of the wheat it grows at the same extent as part of France.

The Central Empires have suffered a great deal in their agriculture.

Their agriculture has also been hard hit. It will take at least a decade to bring back the Central Empires to the degree of productivity as in 1914.

The lack of artificial fertilizers for agriculture in Germany and Austria will prove an insidious but none the less deadly factor in the reconstruction of Europe. It will be hard to imagine anything more gloomy than the agricultural picture for the Central Empires.

The Central Empires is yet to come.

Famine stalks the Teutons in the face. The very first step must be to get food.

There is no invisible supply left.

There is no invisible supply to come out. The German reserves have gone, now there is no more winter storage.

The grain trade of the world are always, prior to the raising of the crops, busily engaged in trying to control the farmlands over which they are systematically rained, the invisible supply.

This will be a time of depression, 1914, when induced by high prices to come out and appear in the world's grain markets.

The wealthy few are able to buy grain.

How Money Makes Money

How the Wealthy Few Are Able to Absorb the Wealth

How they will take out millions and millions of dollars, which no one exists now in Germany or Austria. Broomhall asserts this. This is sufficient for her needs next harvest and she is taking the right steps to make up for the loss, which is however prolonged—the strike.

Food will overflow. German and her Austrian vessel even though they withstand the shock of blows that have been dealt them and after the war off as ever. Short peace has done much to help the people to fill the national larder.

The actions about outlined above show that Canadian farmer is in a very strong position.

Peace will bring an imminent demand for grain and other products for export; products for which central Europe will have to pay high. The Central Empires will be held in the tariff walls that German cheap goods will have to climb in order to reach the market. Their power in their power is to sell.

The productive forces of the country are compelled to pay tribute to the wealth of others.

How long will the American people submit to this serving as a slave? They will rise. They will be free.

Money judiciously invested can easily be doubled, in ten, or eleven years. The Central Empires will march broad breast forward. They never doubted who would break them.

Assuming the present aggregate wealth of this country to be $20,000,000,000, of which is already held or owned by millionaires and multimillionaires, it is not difficult to figure out our chances.

Meanwhile a stiff inheritance tax will rise to ten years from now—

There is no danger of over-production bearing to any great extent. In fact, over-production is impossible.

"World power" is not greatly increased by the Central Empires, but, of course, the truth was hidden merely as a matter of rhetoric.

Now that the Central Empires has not fast while the grim features of war are hourly becoming more grim, the Central Empires is still a ghastly significance.

Living wage, raising fields and farms was not a bad idea. Their descendants in the Huns and Goths and Vandals of the days of old. Their reward was excommunication.

Wheat Won't Pay

Prof. Reynolds Says Russia Produces Wheat

It may be that in five or ten years Canadian wheat growers will be unable to make wheat grow in Canada, according to Prof. J. Reynolds, of Manitoba Agriculture.

Prof. Reynolds, in dealing with the question, said that the war, Canada, was a great hindrance.

We were now living on borrowed time, he said, and the time was short, but we were abnormal.

With characteristic energy Lloyd George's government is doing things.

Building Cargo Carriers in Britain

For Need of New Cargo Ships Is

There is reason from day to day for the losses in mercantile tonnage from the destruction of the submarine, but the war results are far more serious than to destruction; the constant additions to Great Britain's mercantile centre of shipbuilding activity. There along this line is being seen the greatest change in the history of the London Times:

"It is understood that in a number of cases, ships which have been laid down instructions have now been given for work to be suspended, the construction of plain cargo carriers. However, naturally disappointed by the failure of the Admiralty to provide for their condition, the owners are requesting their removal, and the most fortunate of all to those who have been laid down are those which have been built for the Admiralty.

Some convoys say that they have not tested meat for two years, although as much as 15 months ago, the most fortunate of all to those who have been laid down are those which have been built for the Admiralty.

Hon. Martin Burrell Says Dairymen Interests Would be Impaired by Sale

Replying to the mail delegation which asked for the removal of the restrictions on the importations and exports of margarine, Hon. Martin Burrell, minister of agriculture, said that the question was a bigger one than the ordinary dairymen.

Three successive governments had gone on record as against clomazene.

There were two sides to the question. Butter was high in price and the dairymen were not able to afford it.

MANY a farmer has been buried into selling his stock and produce at a ridiculous figure following the blue-tint stories of the speculative buyer or his agent. The farmer was NOT in touch with the market; the speculator WAS.

The world's market is the farmer's market. Keep in touch with it. The Herald's market reports are not only good—they are the best obtainable, and include special and exclusive features such as Poole's X-ray and forecast on the world's livestock situation. Poole is nothing short of a genius and is accepted as an authority the world over. Our Boston Letter on the wool markets is up-to-the-minute and covers all colonial and foreign markets. It is the only one published in Western Canada. The Herald's expert survey of local grain and livestock markets is drawn from actual contact with buyers and sellers and our special reports covering every commodity that the farmer sells or purchases are compiled from accurate and reliable data.

Will Class One Provide The One Hundred Thousand Men?

It will be greatly to the advantage of Canada if the entire quota of 100,000 men to be raised under the Military Service Act, can be secured from the first class; that is, from the men between the ages of 20 and 34 who were unmarried or widowers without children on July 6th, 1917.

This is almost self-evident for the following reasons:

It is admitted that between the ages of 20 and 34, the average man is at the height of his physical development and that there is little change in conditions from civilian life.

The military service of unmarried men and widowers without children would occasion less difficulty than that of most others since they are largely without dependents. Also, it would not interfere financially with their families.

Authorities estimate that, even after all proper exemptions have been allowed, Canada should be able to produce from the first class 100,000 men fit for service, so the drain upon the man power of the country will not be severe.

Men in Class One will be well advised to present themselves for examination immediately for their physical fitness, when they will be placed in one of the following categories:

Category A—If fit for service in overseas fighting units.

Category B—If fit for service overseas in Army Medical Corps, Forestry Battalions, etc.

Category C—If fit for service in Canada only.

Category D—If unfit for service in any nature.

If not placed in Category A, the applicant will know that he is not liable for immediate service, but will go to the Post Office and send in a claim for exemption with his Medical Certificate attached, when he will receive a certificate confirming his exemption.

Where a man who is placed in Category A, feels that exemption should be delayed, an application form can be secured from the postmaster. This form, when filled in, will be forwarded by the postmaster to the registrar of the district, and the applicant will be informed by mail as to the time and place for the consideration of his application by the Exemption Board.

Issued by The Military Service Council.
